LCD SCHOOL SONG:
Now let us sing together,
And spread the fame and honored name
Of our school from year to year;
Then the cheer for our school colors-
For the BLUE and for the GRAY
Shall proclaim the crowning glory
Of beloved COUNTRY DAY.
-Raymond Halpin Seaver (LCD 1954)

One chorus loud and clear,
And spread the fame and honored name
Of our school from year to year;
Then the cheer for our school colors-
For the BLUE and for the GRAY
Shall proclaim the crowning glory
Of beloved COUNTRY DAY.

AQUINAS PREPARATORY SCHOOL

FORMERLY CATHOLIC COUNTRY DAY (CCD)

(APS)

APS was founded in 1957 as Catholic Country Day (CCD). In 1962, the school name was changed from Catholic Country Day to Aquinas Preparatory School. APS serves as an adopted school to KCD with its closure and merger to the former Louisville Country Day in school year 1966-67. The former APS Browns Lane property was purchased by Louisville Country Day during the merger. LCD, who eventually became Kentucky Country Day, utilized the former Aquinas property as a "Lower School" campus until the permanent move of KCD to its present Springdale Road campus (1979).
